Reminder: The 2018 Queen Mary and White & Case International Arbitration Survey

Adrian Hodi? (Queen Mary University of London) · Thursday, November 30th, 2017

In a previous blog post from October 27, 2017, the launch of the 2018 QMUL and White & Case International Arbitration Survey was announced.

Since it was launched, hundreds of respondents have completed the online questionnaire and a significant number of arbitration users have been interviewed. On behalf of the QMUL School of International Arbitration and our partner in this endeavour, White & Case LLP, Professor Stavros Brekoulakis and I wish to thank all of those who have already participated in our research.

For those of you who are yet to take, or to finish completing, the survey, there is still time to get involved! The online questionnaire can be accessed until Sunday, 17 December 2017.

For all the relevant information about the survey, as well as for the link to the online questionnaire, please access the following webpage: <https://www.arbitration.qmul.ac.uk/research/2018/index.html>.

If you have any queries or would like to participate in a short interview, please contact me at a.hodis@qmul.ac.uk. All input will be kept confidential.
